Knit Cro Pro Club

by Dorothy Jones

The Knit Cro Pro Club is continuing to meet, but wearing masks and keeping social distancing. Donations continue to be received. As of July 19, Fred Hoener donated 5 hats and 2 scarves, Maryann Slicker 3 hats and 3 scarves, Leisla Sansom 2 hats, Sherry Jones 3 hats, and Grace Winter 2 scarves.

My sincere thanks to all. We hope all the residents are taking precautions and staying well. Please feel free to join us in the snack area on the 1st floor at 2pm on Tuesdays. Please wear a mask.

Our Treasure Chest

by A Book Worm

On the third floor, at the end of the east hall is a seldom visited treasure chest filled with wisdom, information and entertainment. The price of all this is included in your rent, whether you use it or not. Recently I stopped by the Library just before 12:00pm closing time and left with an arm load of books. I hope my children and grands will read "Legacy A Novel" by James Michener, the story of a man's family/ancestors from the one who rode with George Washington, who signed the Declaration of Independence, who freed his slaves, and a very independent suffragette, and finally the officer who testified before Congress is 1985. If you read it, you'll remember it.

"Hind's Feet on High Places" by Hannah Hurnard

Join me as we travel on a spiritual journey. On this journey we will experience first-hand Jesus Christ's love, encouragement, and ever present prodding us forward, ever forward. We will also experience the jeerings from relatives and friends, dangers, loneliness, trials and tribulations. In the end, "our hearts will be filled with such ecstasy and with raptured joy beyond the power to express" (pg.242) this in words. There, too, we shall find our new spiritual name. We will be on the High Places. To be presented beginning Thursday, August 6 in Poolside Café at 11:00am and 7:00pm.

Hostess: Maryann Slicker, 904-955-5832 RSVP – Room for only 10 people.

Game Night - Tuesday
by Carol Baw

I want to invite all residents to Game Night in the Library Tuesdays from 5-8pm. Come on down and build a puzzle or read a book. But now we have games. Fran & Fred are doing Scrabble & I have Wii Bowling on the TV in another room of the Library. So if anyone wants to get out of their apartment and have some fun, join us. Just wear your mask and come on down. If anyone wants to bring one of their games that's good, too. We have spoken to Barbara the Librarian and she is open for another day or night if that suits you better. Then we would have 2 Game Spots in the Library.

Outside Activities of RTSC
by Barbara Goodwin

This is the perfect time of the year to take advantage of our beautiful pool, our benches and chairs to sit on to watch the river and the handy grill to make a delicious dinner. Here is one suggestion to improve this experience. After you have eaten and the grill has cooled down, please take a few minutes to clean off the grill so the next person just has to raise the lid and throw on the steaks. There will be tools available for your use. Thank you in advance for your consideration.
